

COVID-19 - Update on Assurity Consulting Service Provision

Within the requirements of the advice provided by the government, devolved administrations, national public health bodies and NHS we have successfully returned to work and have already delivered significant levels of support for our customers returning to work too.

Respecting any new laws and the fast-moving changing guidance, Assurity Consulting will continue to take stock of any new measures and develop strategies to allow us to maintain our high levels of customer support and service, in conjunction with keeping our staff, customers and others safe through our activities.

Albeit for some of our departments changing their working hours and practices, we are operating 'normal' office hours, and contact for our customers with their consultant and account manager will be through the usual channels.
